LM-30 PREPARATION CHECK LIST

Prior to contacting a lawyer for assistance in the preparation of an LM-30 Report, please make sure you have compiled the following information. Remember, the information you must provide is almost certainly for calendar year 2004 only. You should also keep in mind that employers will have to file an LM-10 report that covers some of these same areas and the DOL is expected to cross check the LM-10 reports against the LM-30 reports. So be thorough!

1. First, try to fill out the LM-30 form completely yourself. In that way, you will be able to determine where you have questions.
2. With regard to Box #1 of the LM-30 Report, you should leave that box blank unless you have previously filed an LM-30 Report. For Box #4, the "Labor Organization File Number" for the Guild is ~~000-113~~ 000-113
3. Write down the nature of any ownership interest or other financial interest you have in any company that is signatory to a Guild collective bargaining agreement or which employs actors or other performers who could be covered by a Guild collective bargaining agreement.
4. Write down the nature of any ownership interest or other financial interest you have in any company that itself does business with a company that is signatory to a Guild collective bargaining agreement or which employs actors or other performers who could be covered by a Guild collective bargaining agreement.
Note: This does not include ownership interest through a mutual fund – please see #6 below. NASDAQ not public Publicly Traded Co. not reportable
5. Write down the nature of any ownership interest or other financial interest you have in any company that itself does business with the Guild or with the SAG-Producers Pension and Health Plans.
6. For any company that you have listed in response to Nos. 3, 4 or 5 (above), include the following information:
  - ☞ List the name of the company and the address
  - ☞ List the amount of income or nature and value of the ownership interest
  - ☞ You do not have to list an interest you held through a mutual fund, retirement account (such as an IRA, 401K) or which was in the form of stock traded on the New York Stock Exchange or American Stock Exchange.

7. Write down any gift or other "thing of value" (including, for example, any meal or ticket to a concert or sports event) from any employer - not just employers who are signatory to a Guild agreement or who employ actors or other performers.

- ⌘ For purposes of discussion, include everything - even if you do not think there could be any reporting obligation.
- ⌘ You do not have to list compensation (that is, W-2 wages) paid to you by that employer.
- ⌘ You do not have to list gifts or other things of value received from personal friends who you have no business relation with and who also have no connection with the entertainment industry.
- ⌘ You may have to go through your personal calendar to thoroughly determine whether you engaged in any activities during the year that meet this criteria
